Associate
Employment

(714) 338-1814
CCollins@rutan.com

Corey Collins represents employers in all areas of employment law litigation, including wage and hour class actions and Private Attorneys General Act (PAGA) representative claims, trade secret disputes, and discrimination, harassment, and retaliation lawsuits. He has experience in litigation matters in numerous state and federal courts and in arbitration with JAMS, AAA, and Judicate West.

Clients also seek Corey's advice with the goal of avoiding litigation, particularly by keeping their employment policies and procedures compliant and up-to-date. His clients are public and private companies in health care, e-commerce, tech, hospitality, retail, construction, and entertainment

During law school, Corey worked as a judicial extern for Judge Otis D. Wright II of the Central District of California and served as a managing editor of the UCLA Journal of International Law and Foreign Affairs. He also participated in the Scott and Cyan Bannister First Amendment Amicus Brief Clinic and played on the UCLA Law basketball team.
