Sarah St. John is a banking and finance attorney specializing in the representation of private companies and lenders in complex debt financing transactions. She represents and advises clients on a wide array of financial structures, including secured and unsecured financings, asset-based loans, term loans, revolving credit facilities, subordinated debt transactions, mezzanine and warehouse facilities.

Sarah brings a holistic perspective to her practice, informed by her prior experience representing both creditors and distressed debtors in bankruptcy proceedings. Additionally, her tenure as a law clerk for the Honorable Julia Brand and the Honorable Scott Clarkson, U.S. Bankruptcy Judges for the Central Districts of Los Angeles and Santa Ana respectively, further enriches her expertise in navigating intricate financial and legal matters.
