

CONSTRUCTION

Rutan's Construction Law Group provides the full range of legal support for construction-related matters, representing clients from the inception of projects to their conclusion. We assist in the preparation of bid documents, bid protests, contract documents, and all aspects of claim presentation, litigation and dispute resolution. We represent a wide base of clients involved in every facet of the construction process, including contractors, developers, public entities, builders, design professionals, equipment and material suppliers, lenders, title insurers and others in the construction industry.