

CLASS ACTIONS

Local, national and international corporations look to Rutan & Tucker when facing class action lawsuits in Southern California.

Class action lawsuits can be the most devastating litigation faced by a business. Armed with the potential of aggregating hundreds, thousands or even millions of claims in a single lawsuit, class action plaintiffs wield significant power to coerce large settlements. We are experts at defending class action lawsuits in both state and federal court and have been very successful in defeating class action lawsuits early in litigation at the class certification stage, resulting in dismissals or settlements on terms most advantageous to our clients.